

Built for Transparency and Convenience

Dealing with the draw process while building or renovating a new home doesn't need to feel challenging and cumbersome. Citizens offers borrowers and builders an online solution for managing the draw process during construction that's both easy and convenient—it's called Built.

Built offers:

- Digital collaboration. As an intuitive, secure, communication portal, Built makes it simpler for borrowers, builders, inspectors, and Citizens to exchange important information and avoid tracking down emails.
- Streamlined draw processes. Fewer manual steps and multiple handoffs mean increased efficiency for construction draw requests.
- Project tracking. Better visibility of a project's status improves the construction process for everyone.

We're focused on making the construction financing process easier for you. For more details on how the Built portal could help with your project, speak with a construction-to-permanent financing certified loan officer today.
